

IZA MALIKA

Painter · Granada

CREATIVE PROJECT BOOK

2026

Creative Project Book

01

The Story

Who is Iza, what inspires her, what she wants to transmit

02

Visual Identity

The mandala — the logo, its variants and usage

03

Color Language

Why these colors exist — then the HEX values

04

Typography

The typeface and the full hierarchy: H1 to Caption

05

Digital Experience

Buttons, cards, animations, hover states, transitions

06

The Journey

The user's path through the website — and why it was designed this way

07

Workshops & Experiences

The workshop program and its visual world

08

Brand in Practice

Desktop, mobile, and tablet — the brand living

09

Handoff Package

Everything the client receives

10

Thank You

The Story

Iza Malika is a painter based in Granada, Spain. Her work spans acrylics, watercolors, mandalas, and portraits — but what defines it is not the medium. It is the impulse. Every piece begins with a feeling that needs to leave the body and become something visible.

She grew up surrounded by color, pattern, and the kind of stillness you only find in cities that have been beautiful for centuries. Granada gave her the light. Painting gave her the language.

WHAT INSPIRES HER

Nature — its textures, its silences, its cycles. The way a plant grows toward light without being told to. The geometry hidden inside a flower. The color a sky turns just before it rains.

WHAT SHE WANTS TO TRANSMIT

Slowness

In a world that accelerates, her work asks you to stop. To look. To feel something before you name it.

Presence

Each painting is a record of a real moment. Not a concept. A presence.

Permission

Through her workshops, she gives other people permission to create — to stop waiting until they're 'good enough'.

Connection

Art is most powerful when it becomes shared. A painting on your wall is a conversation that never ends.

"For me, art is stopping time — a way to listen to nature, to magic, to the quiet voice that lives inside."

— Iza Malika

Visual Identity

The logo is the mandala painted by Iza herself — a spiral sun, radiating outward from a single center point. It lives at the heart of the website, animating on load as if it is being painted in real time. It is not a symbol designed in software. It is a painting.

THE LOGO

Painted by Iza Malika · Acrylic · Original artwork · Used as the primary brand mark.

LOGO + NAME — PRIMARY LOCKUP

Primary lockup — mandala + name in Cormorant Garamond 300.

LOGO ON DARK

Dark variant — used on night background sections.

USAGE

- The mandala is always used at full color — never grayscale, never recolored.
- Minimum size: 40px on screen, 14mm in print.
- Clear space around the mandala: equal to one radius of the circle on all sides.
- Never crop, rotate, or distort the mandala.
- Never place the mandala on a busy photographic background without an overlay.
- The name 'Iza Malika' always appears in Cormorant Garamond weight 300.

Color Language

These colors were not chosen from a palette library. They were pulled from the paintings themselves — from the warm glow of a canvas in afternoon light, the deep shadow of an ink brushstroke, the soft rose of a dried flower.

Each color has a reason. Together they feel like a single room where you would want to spend an afternoon.

	Cream #F5EDE0	This is the background of everything. Old paper, raw linen, warm light. It replaces white in every context — white feels cold here.
	Ink #2A2018	The color of charcoal and deep earth. Text, borders, shadows. It replaces black — warmer, more human.
	Rose #C4687A	Used sparingly, like the moment in a painting where color suddenly speaks. Taglines, hover states, emotional highlights.
	Gold #C9A84C	For fine details only. Dividers, active states, the progress bar that tells you where you are. Never a fill color — always a signal.
	Green #4A7C59	Nature. The color that appears in mandalas and botanical pieces. Present as a secondary accent — the forest at the edge of the frame.
	Night #1C1C2E	The deepest tone in the palette. Used for the lightbox overlay, for moments where the world outside needs to disappear.

COLOR RULES

- Cream is always the default background. Never pure white.
- Rose is used for one thing per layout — not three things at once.
- Gold lives in details: lines, borders, one-pixel accents.
- Night appears only in full-overlay contexts. Not in UI elements.
- The palette works because it is restrained. Every color earns its place.

Typography

One typeface. Cormorant Garamond. Classical, elegant, and slightly imperfect in the way that handwriting is imperfect. It looks like it belongs in a letter written by someone who cares about words.

Weight 300 is the default. The brand speaks quietly — it never shouts. Italic is reserved for poetry, quotes, and the moments where language becomes feeling.

TYPE HIERARCHY

H1 — Display	Iza Malika	Cormorant Garamond 300 clamp(3rem, 8vw, 6.5rem)
H2 — Section	Creative Experiences	Cormorant Garamond 300 clamp(2.4rem, 6.5vw, 5rem)
H3 — Sub	Every painting begins with a feeling.	Cormorant Garamond 300 italic clamp(1.8rem, 4vw, 3rem)
Body	I believe art begins with intuition. Each brushstroke is an act of listening to what already exists, waiting to become visible.	Cormorant Garamond 300 clamp(1rem, 1.8vw, 1.3rem) Line height 1.75
Caption	ACRYLIC ON CANVAS · 50 × 40 CM · 2024	Cormorant Garamond 300 0.72rem – 0.9rem Uppercase, tracked

TYPE RULES

- One typeface only. Never substitute or pair with another font.
- Weight 300 is the default. Use 400 only for emphasis within body copy — never in headings.
- Italic is for poetry, quotes, and captions. Never for UI labels or navigation.
- Letter-spacing on headings: 0.04em – 0.12em. Labels and navigation: 0.3em – 0.5em.
- Never use bold (700) weight. The brand speaks at a low volume — it doesn't need to.
- Line height: 1.0–1.2 for display, 1.75–1.85 for body text.

Digital Experience

The website is not a store. It is a space. Every interaction is designed to feel considered — never instant, never aggressive. Animations slow the pace just enough to make you feel like you arrived somewhere.

Buttons

Outlined, no fill. When a button appears on scroll, its border draws itself from left to right — as if someone just underlined the word. On hover: the background fills with Ink and text turns Cream. Letter-spacing 0.38em, uppercase. The button never rushes.

Example: 'Discover the Collection'

Cards

No border-radius. No shadows by default. On hover: a quiet lift (translateY -5px), a barely-visible shadow, and a bottom line that draws across the full width. Cards feel like paper on a table.

Example: Workshop feature cards, Oracle cards

Animations

Everything enters from below with a fade. Nothing pops or bounces. The spring easing (cubic-bezier 0.16, 1, 0.3, 1) gives each element a sense of settling — like something being placed gently, not dropped.

Scroll reveals, hero entrance, section transitions

Hover States

Subtle. Opacity shifts from 0.45 to 1 on navigation links. Colors shift, not sizes. The experience rewards attention rather than demanding it.

Navigation, artwork thumbnails, gallery items

Transitions

Standard duration: 0.85s. No transition faster than 0.2s appears in a visible UI element. The pace is measured. The oracle carousel changes background color over 0.6s — the whole mood of the page shifts quietly.

Carousel, language toggle, lightbox open/close

Language Toggle

A small outlined button — shows the language you can switch TO. One click changes every word on the page instantly. The choice is remembered forever in the browser.

EN ↔ ES — persists via localStorage

The Journey

The website was designed as a single continuous experience. Not a collection of pages, but a walk through a gallery — each section earning the next. The order is intentional.

WHY BUILT THIS WAY

The structure reflects the way trust works. You don't ask someone to buy something the moment they walk through the door. You let them feel the space. You show them who you are. Then — when they are already moved — you offer them a way to stay.

Workshops & Experiences

The workshops are not an afterthought. They are a core part of the brand — the place where Iza's art becomes participatory. She doesn't just make things. She creates conditions for other people to make things.

THE PROGRAM

No experience needed

The first card in the workshop section says this clearly. The program is designed for people who have never held a brush — and for people who forgot they wanted to.

All materials included

You arrive. Everything is ready. The act of showing up is the whole task.

Small groups. Real presence.

These are not classes. They are gatherings. The group size is intentionally small so that something real can happen between people.

BRAND ROLE OF THE WORKSHOP SECTION

The workshop section appears after the gallery for a reason. By the time visitors arrive here, they have already seen the work. They have been moved. Now they are being invited in.

"Art brings people together. I have seen it happen, over and over — strangers becoming friends because they painted in the same room."

— Iza Malika

VISUAL WORLD OF THE WORKSHOPS

The workshop photography section of the website uses an editorial mosaic — 5 photographs arranged asymmetrically, each one revealing itself on scroll. Not a grid. Not a slideshow. A moment from inside the room.

Brand in Practice

The brand living across screen sizes. The design adapts — but the feeling stays the same.

Desktop • 1280px+

The hero fills the screen. The name appears large — Iza Malika — centered in generous whitespace. The spiral canvas animation plays behind it. Navigation sits at the top with the language toggle at the right. The oracle section shows three buttons side by side, each opening a themed carousel that spans the full viewport width.

- Full-width carousel with visible side cards
 - Two-column layout for About (photo + text)
 - Workshop cards in a 3-column grid
 - Gallery in a 4-column masonry grid
-

Tablet • 768px – 1280px

The layout compresses gracefully. Oracle buttons remain side by side. Workshop cards shift to 2 columns. The gallery becomes a 3-column grid. Typography scales fluidly via clamp() — nothing snaps or breaks.

- Gallery grid: 4 columns → 3 columns
 - Workshop cards: 3 → 2 columns
 - Navigation remains horizontal
 - Carousel side cards slightly reduced
-

Mobile • 375px – 640px

The site becomes linear and vertical. One column. The hamburger menu appears. The oracle buttons stack. The gallery drops to 2 columns. Touch swipe is enabled on the carousel. Nothing is hidden — only reorganized.

- Hamburger menu replaces navigation
 - Oracle buttons stack vertically
 - Gallery: 2-column grid
 - Workshop cards: single column
 - Carousel: full-width, swipe-enabled
-

Handoff Package

Everything you need to own, maintain, and evolve this project. Nothing is locked. Everything is yours.

Website

The complete, ready-to-deploy website. Pure HTML, CSS, and vanilla JavaScript — no frameworks, no subscriptions, no dependencies. Upload to GitHub Pages and you are live.

- index.html — the complete page
 - css/ — 4 focused stylesheets
 - js/ — 7 ES module files, one responsibility each
 - images/ — all artwork and workshop photographs
-

Brand Assets

This Creative Project Book, plus machine-readable design tokens for every value used in the codebase — colors, typography, spacing, animation timings.

- Iza_Malika_Creative_Project_Book.pdf
 - design-tokens.json — all CSS values in JSON format
-

Documentation

A complete technical guide written for someone who has never seen the code. How to edit text, replace images, add artworks, change the WhatsApp number, deploy to GitHub Pages, and set up a custom domain.

- README.md — full technical reference
-

Backup

The full project folder should be kept in a safe place — cloud storage, an external drive, or a GitHub repository. If something is accidentally deleted, everything can be restored.

- Recommended: GitHub repository (free)
 - Also: iCloud Drive, Google Drive, or Dropbox
-

Future Support

The website was built to be editable without a developer. For larger changes — new sections, new features, redesigns — reach out directly.

- Sebastián Ávila · avilalopezsp@gmail.com
-

Thank you for trusting me with your story.

Designed & developed by

Sebastián Ávila

Creative Designer